The Women's Studies Program has received a $13,000 grant from Title I funds of the Higher Education Act. The grant project, designed by Anne Barrett, School of Health Studies, will bring Women's Studies courses to residents of local nursing homes for women. The initial courses will probably be women's literature and creative writing. Anne will administer the project, the first of its kind in the country.

SPRING SENIOR SEMINAR

Barbara White, Special Collections, UNH Library, has agreed to teach Women's Studies 698 (the Senior Seminar) next spring. The seminar will be devoted to student research on local (New Hampshire, primarily) women writers, published and unpublished, past and present. Anyone who knows of local unpublished materials, such as diaries, journals, etc., please contact Barbara at 2-2714. We hope to receive a small grant to help cover the costs of student research.

FACULTY BAG LUNCHES

Back by popular request the Women's Studies faculty "bag lunches" will resume this fall Wednesday, September 13 from noon to 1 p.m. in The Grafton Room of the MUB (same room as last year). They will continue through the semester every Wednesday same time, same place. We hope to continue faculty research reports and to hold more general discussions on such topics as feminist pedagogy, how Women's Studies is challenging theoretical assumptions in various disciplines, etc.

WOMEN AND MATHEMATICS CONFERENCE

Beginning Monday September 25 and continuing for four successive Mondays, a series of colloquia on "Women and Mathematics" will be held in the Forum Room of the Library at 4 p.m.

Sheila Tobias, leading authority on math anxiety and avoidance in women, will open the series September 25. Tobias' book Overcoming Math Anxiety will be published by Norton in September.

Elizabeth Rivet, Mathematics, has organized the series which is being co-sponsored by Women's Studies and Mathematics. (see attached flyer for further details).

WOMEN'S STUDIES RESOURCES

The Women's Studies Program now has a small library of basic books (see attached list). Faculty may peruse them in the office (best time between 1 and 4 p.m. afternoons--contingent upon our finding an afternoon receptionist) or in an emergency borrow them for short periods of time. In addition the Women's Studies Program ordered approximately $1500 worth of books and films to fill out the Library's Women's Studies Resources. Many of these were requests made by WS faculty last year. Please send further requests to the co-ordinator or to Barbara White in the Library.

WOMAN FILMMAKER

Jane Morrison, an independent filmmaker from New York, will show her recently completed, award-winning film "A White Heron" on Thursday October 5 at 12:30 p.m. in the Forum Room of the Library. Discussion with the filmmaker will follow. The film runs 18 min., and is based on the Sarah Orne Jewett short story.
NEw ENGLAND WOMEN'S STUDIES ASSOCIATION TO MEET HERE

The NEWSA has chosen UNH as the site of its spring convention, probably to be held in early April 1979. Over 120 persons from the region are expected to attend. Further information will be given out later.

WOMEN'S STUDIES ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Susan Schibanoff, English, has been appointed to the WS Advisory Committee. She replaces Jean Kennard whose term had expired. Other members of the Committee are Betty Roberts, Social Service, and Ann Diller, Education.

AFTERNOON RECEPTIONIST

We are looking for a work-study student or a part-time worker to answer phones, etc. in the WS office, afternoons from 1-4 p.m. Anyone interested please call the office, 2-2194.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF GRANTS, PROGRAMS, ETC.

The Women's Studies Program regularly receives announcements of grants, conferences, etc. These are posted on the bulletin board outside the office and referred to persons likely to be interested. We will try to include notices in this Newsletter in future issues.

Radcliffe has announced a Research Scholars Program to support research on women in America, using the Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America and the Radcliffe Data Resource and Research Center. These collections could be used primarily for social science research. Stipends go up to $15,000. Applicants must hold a doctorate.
