CALLIE CROSSLEY is a Boston based radio and tv host, commentator and public speaker. She hosts WGBH's Under the Radar with Callie Crossley, provides Monday morning commentaries on WGBH's Morning Edition, appears on WGBH-TV's Beat the Press and hosts Basic Black, which focuses on current events concerning communities of color. Crossley has won numerous awards for journalism and documentary film, including a National Emmy, the Gold Alfred I. Dupont-Columbia Award, plus Associated Press, Edward R. Murrow, and Clarion Awards, and top honors from the Public Radio News Directors. She is the first African American to win an Oscar nomination in the Documentary Feature category. She has been named by GK100 as one of Boston's Top 100 Influential People of Color.

The Rutman Distinguished Lecture Series on the American Presidency, generously supported by J. Morgan '84 and Tara Rutman, focuses on American political history with an emphasis on the modern and historical context of the American Presidency.

The Rutman Distinguished Lecture Series on the American Presidency

Zoom panel discussions bookending the 2020 elections, moderated by award-winning journalist and filmmaker Callie Crossley

The 2020 Election: What Might Happen and What it Might Mean
Mon, Oct 12, 6:30-7:30 p.m.
Panelists: Tito Jackson '99, former Boston city counselor and mayoral candidate; Emily Baer, UNH assistant professor of political science; Kurk Dorsey, UNH professor of history

The 2020 Election: What Happened and Why
Tues, Nov 10, 6:30-7:30 p.m.
Panelists: Jennifer Horn, co-founder of The Lincoln Project and former chair of the NH Republican Party; Andrew Smith, UNH professor of practice in political science; Jason Sokol, UNH professor of history

Register at cola.unh.edu/2020-election