Join us in pursuing your passion for music, whether studying music as a major or simply participating in an ensemble. Here, you’re free to explore and develop as a musician, acquiring skills of creative expression and innovation while preparing for your career amongst supportive peers and faculty. Music education is central to what we do, with approximately two-thirds of our majors pursuing teaching degrees and a 100% employment rate. Participate in a variety of ensembles, from chamber groups that tour the region, to jazz ensembles, choirs, orchestras and bands that inspire from the stage to the football field. Develop a passion for inquiry – here you’ll learn to ask the questions that lead to continued study, growth and development. The UNH Department of Music is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music.
