

Flute

Leonore Overture No. 3

LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVEN, Op. 72
(1770-1827)

Tonal beauty and control are of great importance in creating a mood of intimacy and quiet anticipation in the Adagio of this most dramatic orchestral piece. In the opening bars, don't let the vibrato overpower the delicate tone.

In bars 19-20, connect the two F#'s without a break, and with a gentle tongue on the downbeat F#. Continue this gentle tonguing on the triplets that follow.

Errata:

-In bar 26, there should be a slur and 6 staccato dots, similar to bar 29.

-In bar 35, the 2nd note after the grace notes should be D not E.

Suggested Equipment: Part 3: C or Bb Trumpet Part 4: Bb Piccolo or D Trumpet

Special Notes: All staccatos should be dry (crisp, short). In the Ballerina Dance, carefully observe the dynamic shifts and articulation markings. It is musically interesting to make some dynamic shadings in the slurred phrases.

In the Waltz, a little stress on downbeats adds a nice musical touch. Be sure to NOT ritard the ends of sections 142 and 150. If the material from 143 to 147 is called for, count the rests carefully.

One additional note about the Ballerina Dance should be given. The normal audition request does not include the bar before #134. However, it may be asked for in some auditions, so it is good to prepare the music both ways. In either case, you should imagine the snare solo at #134 leading up to the trumpet melody. Many of the recordings surveyed used a tempo less than ♩ = 116, but prepare the range indicated should you be asked to play at 116.

The material from the end of #142 continues without interruption through the end of #150. For the final excerpt at #265, in most auditions, the player plays both the first and second parts as one. A muted piccolo trumpet seems to present the most convincing sound for this passage. Play it very loudly and biting.

Pist. in Bb $(\text{♩} = 46)$ I Solo 134 Allegro $(\text{♩} = 110-116)$

The musical score is written for a Piano Solo in B-flat major, 3/4 time. It begins at measure 134, marked 'Allegro' with a tempo of 110-116 beats per minute. The first staff shows a measure rest followed by a triplet of eighth notes (Bb, A, G) marked mf. A large bracket spans measures 134 through 139. The second staff continues with a series of eighth-note patterns, marked mf and mp. The third staff continues the eighth-note patterns. The fourth staff concludes the passage with a final eighth-note pattern marked mp, followed by a measure rest. A large bracket on the right side of the score indicates the end of the solo section at measure 139.
